Bonny McCloud, AIA
Gensler

Bonny McCloud, AIA, is a licensed architect, interior designer and Principal at Gensler, with over two decades of experience providing corporate work environments for clients including many Fortune 200 companies in several cities. Consulting with clients and developers at the onset of projects to assist with analysis of how to best plan for their corporate HQ, Bonny specializes in workplace planning, base building design consultation, and project management services; leading teams from the inception of a project through occupancy.

Bonny co-leads a Studio at Gensler with a focus on Commercial and Institutional Architecture and Interiors, heads Gensler’s Firm wide Project Management Steering Committee, and has been instrumental in writing and developing Gensler’s policies and tools for Project Management and Training. Bonny recently served as AIA Board Director of Continuing Education.
