Wally Ford and Chris Vadala will join us on Wednesday to discuss many aspects of structural engineering.

Wally Ford has over 28 years of experience in planning and design of structural systems for commercial buildings. He specializes in high-rise design. He earned his Bachelor of Science in Civil Engineering degree and Master of Civil Engineering degrees from Rice University. He is dedicated to education and contributes to the architecture and engineering community by teaching a variety of courses. He served as lecturer for structural courses in the School of Architecture at Rice University for 10 years.

Chris Vadala joined Haynes Whaley Associates in 1997 and became an Associate in 2002. He has over 8 years of experience in the planning and design of structural systems for new buildings, as well as the renovation and modification of existing buildings, including educational and medical facilities, office buildings, performance halls, retail buildings and parking garages. Chris earned his Bachelor of Science in Civil Engineering from Texas Tech University. In his role as Marketing Representative, Chris utilizes technical and design experience to help create and build client relationships.
