

Houston Internship Program

TTU College of Architecture

Studio Updates

Student teams presented the latest schematic design proposals on Friday, July 1st.

The teams were asked to address the issues related to the envelope and fenestration of the building, all of which were related to climate, cost, engineering and a system that would fulfill the requirement of the different aspects of the project. Further research was needed on this topic and was therefore given to the students as an assignment.

Studio Design Review

The studio will hold its final review on Friday, August 5, 2005 from 10am to 4pm. The review will be conducted as revolving presentations with pin ups included. We are asking each student to bring one person from their internship firm to join us at any time during the day. If you are interested, please contact one of the studio professors, Akel Kahera or MaryAlice Torres-MacDonald at the following email addresses:

A special thanks to Bill Hutz, AIA of Amtech Roofing Consultants.

The lecture provided a unique view of the process and details in roofing construction that are not typically available to students.

We appreciate the time and expertise provided to our students.
